

Thinking about returns

Narrator: I've always questioned the idea of the return. I've never been interested in the people who leave, even if it's me, but I've always wondered about the people who return.

Why do they?

Why did I?