Revisiting streams (again)

I've looked at streams in the context of Node and the browser, but I haven't really done anything with them because I couldn't figure out what the best use for them was.

As I started working with more complex processes, I realized that streams are a great way to handle files without knowing the size of the file in advance.

Examples

Links and Resources

- How To Work with Files Using Streams in Node.js — Digital Ocean
- 2016 - the year of web streams — Jake Archibald
- Streaming template literals — Jake Archibald
- Node
    - Node.js Streams
    - https://nodejs.org/api/stream.html#stream — Node 17.1.0